Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, (UP) — There is a highly reputable rumor running about this town that there won't be any room in the press box for the sportswriters when the St. Mary's football team plays Fordham at the Polo Grounds on Saturday.

All the seats, the rumor goes, will be filled by stylists, fashion editors, and Hollywood talent scouts. It should be a rather pretty sight to see the press box filled with the fashionable faces of Mainbocher, Molyneux, Schiaparelli, Hattie Carnegie and Lucius Beebe, and quite a contrast to the grim old sports-worn faces usually seen there.

Skinny old Richards Vidmer of the Herald Tribune will yield his seat to the advance trend man for Harper's Bazaar; inquisitive Johnny Kieran of the Times will turn over his working press ticket to the lady from Vogue; and the little bit of Ireland that is Joe Williams' face will be missing because of the scout from Butterick Patterns.

All this, mind you, because the St. Mary's football team has ceased to be a football team and become an 11 man fashion show. According to their press agent, a worker in nouns and adjectives named Tom Foudy, the Gaels are the handsomest, best-dressed, stomped-down charmingest, ooomphiest boys in all of sport. Mr. Foudy never mentions football in connection with the team. As far as I can gather that is just an excuse to get the team out in public.

He describes the classic Greek profile, the crimson silk trousers, and the flaming waistcoat of the quarterbacks, but doesn't even seem to know whether they can kick, run, pass, or think. Mr. Foudy can speak at length on the Hollywood offers two of the tackles have had, but has no idea whether they can even tackle.

His rhapsody knows no bounds when he lifts away on the subject of the sideline coats worn by the St. Mary's players when they are not in the game. They are smarter than a Mainbocher coat, and just as impractical. They are patterned after the formal dress coat of a high ranking French army officer, and are of a brilliant blue. The lining is serise satin and during football practice they practice flipping the coat open in order to reveal the hidden glories beneath.

Football practice at St. Mary's must be something these days.

All plays are run to the side that reveals the best profiles of the team. The minute a player comes off the field he is weighed and if he has lost weight a tailor alters his uniform so that it will continue to fit him perfectly. Heaven help the St. Mary's player who catches a pass in such a position that he wrinkles his suit.

I hope to get to that fashion show at the Polo Grounds on Saturday, and don't think that I am going in the hand-me-down serge that has lasted me two years. At this very moment my wife is busy at the sewing machine making me a new hound's tooth check sport suit, cut on Prince Albert lines. It should be just the thing to wear, I think.

Our hound, of course, is very unhappy about the whole thing. He was inordinately proud of his teeth.

WEIMAR PROBE CONTINUES

Special Committee Sifts Attacks On Management At Tubercular Sanatorium

WEIMAR (UP) — An investigation into charges of mismanagement of Weimar Joint Sanatorium today was heightened by admission of a staff doctor that a fellow physician had consumed "a considerable amount of alcohol, but only because of illness."

With the hearing in its second day a committee of county supervisors from six of the 14 counties which cooperate in support of the tuberculosis sanatorium indicated testimony will be heard for probably five or six days more.

The investigation was prompted by charges of Dr. Ione Kilgore, discharged resident physician, that physicians performed operations while intoxicated, that patients did not receive proper treatment and moral standards were lax.

Miss Frieda M. Ritzmann, a former nurse at the institution, supported Dr. Kilgore's charges, and a former storekeeper, Harold G. Laycock, submitted a statement deposing that he was poorly prepared and officials took more supplies than were required for their own use.

Reiterating her accusations on the witness stand at yesterday's opening session of the hearing, Dr. Kilgore said that Dr. M. P. Flatley, a member of the medical staff, had performed an operation while he was under the influence of liquor.

Dr. E. S. Peak, another resident physician, later came to Dr. Flatley's defense, admitting that the physician had consumed a considerable amount of liquor but explained—

Seniors Ready With Comedy

"Try It With Alice" To Be Given Tonight On High School Stage

If a matinee presentation given Tuesday for the student body is any indication, those who attend the annual Senior Play at the high school auditorium this (Thursday) evening are promised a real treat.

The curtain will be raised promptly at 8 o'clock on the three-act farce comedy, "Try It With Alice," which has been perfected by a cast of twelve in rehearsals for several weeks under the direction of Thomas Flynn.

In the cast are Frances Byrnes, Lucille Crowell, Betty Farrell, Mary Jean Newman, Sylvia Johnson, Penelope Risser, Archie Hefner, Don Wright, Bob Woodward, Harlan Hall, Don Chadwick and Leo Cearley.

Most of the players were members of the cast in last year's Junior Play, which was an outstanding success.

The high school orchestra led by Charles W. Ball will assist in the presentation and the audience will be seated by Betsy Anderson, Nona Green, Mildred Potter, Betty Blair, Mildred Morris, Jeanette Pierroz, Eloise Pont, Yvonne Burnaugh and Ila Wing, as usherettes.

Coloma Lady Is Home From Tour

Miss Vernon Reports Her Visit With Markham Vacation Highlight

Miss N. Y. Vernon returned Saturday evening to Coloma completing a nine-week vacation spent touring a part of our own United States and she is a booster for "See America First" and by Greyhound bus.

Leaving September 3, she visited San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Chattanooga, spent seven days in Washington and nearby Alexandria and continued to Philadelphia, New York City, Boston, Gloucester, Buffalo, Toronto, and Calender, Canada; then Kansas City, Salt Lake City and home.

One of the highlights of her visit in New York City was the opportunity to meet again her first school teacher, Edwin Markham, former teacher at Coloma and former county school superintendent, who inquired with interest concerning his former pupils and other friends and asked to be remembered to them.

In Philadelphia, Miss Vernon visited Miss Frances Van Kirk, granddaughter of Albert Moseley, a Coloma pioneer. Mr. Moseley came around the Horn in 1852 bringing with him the lumber and fittings for his home which is still standing and is owned by Sam Winje.

In Callendar, Ontario, she saw the Dionne quintuplets and at Kansas City she spent two days at the United School. She reports much interest in browsing about Salt Lake City and visiting the Mormon temple where she heard a recital on the famous organ and a lecture by Joseph Cannon.

In New York City, in addition to visiting Mr. Markham at his home at Staten Island, Miss Vernon attended the New York World's Fair, where she reports that the Italian building was the most beautiful of all buildings there, both inside and out.

A second most beautiful sight was the view of New York City from the Empire State building tower in the (Continued on page three)

Placerville Couple Wed 20 Years

If City Officer D. W. LeBourveau seemed to be more than ordinarily patient and tolerant Thursday in supervising local traffic, there's a reason.

Mr. and Mrs. LeBourveau were married twenty years ago today, and plan to take note of the occasion this evening at an informal dinner with friends.

District Attorney Henry S. Lyon in his capacity as grand first vice president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, paid an official visit to the parlor at Marysville Wednesday night. He was accompanied by Guy E. Wentworth.

Dr. Tully Knoles Ends Lecture Series

Dr. Tully Knoles, president of the College of Pacific, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the Shakespeare Clubhouse in the last event of the fall lecture-forum series discussing, "A Realist Looks at Peace."

KELSEY MINE STRIKE MAY REACH $1,000,000 TOTAL VALUE

Find Has Yielded $600,000 To Date State Mineralogist Reveals; Mint Officials Said To Have Suspected High-Grading At First

The pocket recently found at the Alhambra-Shumway mine at Kelsey has all ready yielded $600,000 and may give up gold worth a total of a $1,000,000 according to statements at San Francisco Wednesday attributed to Walter W. Bradley, state mineralogist.

The yield is so rich and in such quantities, Bradley indicated, that the operators of the property were suspected of being high-graders when they shipped a total of $150,000 to the mint in one shipment.

At that time they had a permit to have only 200 ounces in their possession at one time. Then they shipped in more than 4,500 ounces and the mint refused to accept it.

Subsequently, John Bongard, state Division of Mines enforcement agent, checked over the Kelsey property and assured the mint that everything was in order but, according to Bradley, the mint still refused to accept the gold amalgam. Finally, the mint officials agreed that the gold might be shipped to the smelter at Selby to be subsequently sold to the mint.

A new permit, presumably covering the possession of a larger amount of gold, was issued later.

Although the mine has been active for more than half a century, since 1883, Bradley reported that the pocket, which may prove to be the richest ever found in California, was encountered at a depth of less than 300 feet.

From the Alhambra pocket $60,000 already has been sent to the mint, Bradley said.

The ore-breaking formation is quartz and calcite, the mines' chief explained.

Men who have viewed the discovery say "the rock is yellow with gold."

So rich is it that the whole face of the vein has a yellow cast.

"And the people talk about gold mining in California being a thing of the past," Bradley explained.

The Alhambra operators, however, "are caught between the devil and the deep blue sea," the mines' chief said.

They have stopped shipping ore now, after a brief period of high activity, figuring that if they take out more immediately the income surtax will eat it up.

On the other hand, if they just leave it there, they face the possibility of losing by high grading.

NATIVE OF PLACERVILLE DIED RECENTLY AT HOME IN OREGON

Madison Hall, 79, a native of Placerville and resident more than fifty years at Union, Oregon, died at the home of his daughter in that city on November 2.

This is according to word received Wednesday by Miss Maggie Atkins.

Born in Placerville April 13th, 1860, Mr. Hall spent his boyhood here and as a young man was employed in the grocery operated upon the present site of the Quigley store by the father of the late Abe Darlington.

Leaving here in 1883, he engaged with his brothers in the operation of a general store at Union. The firm also operated three cattle ranches and a transfer and warehouse business.

About 1906 Mr. Hall moved to Portland, where he was a dealer in hay and grain and was later in the real estate business. In 1917 he moved to Seattle to become associated in the baking industry and in 1921 he returned to Portland in the brokerage business, retiring in 1922 to make his home at Union with a daughter, Mrs. Blaine B. Coles.

He is survived in addition by one other daughter, Mrs. Arthur Cook, of Portland and two sons, Bertrand, of Portland, and Howard, of The Dalles, Oregon; and by a brother, G. F. Hall, of Union, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Conger, of San Jose, California.

Miss Laura Powell, Miss Fern Mains, both of Sacramento, and Mrs. Patricia Tolliver of Richmond, all patients at the hospital, testified that attendants were indifferent of the patients' welfare and that the food was poor.

Dr. Monica Briner, a member of the staff, later termed Mrs. Tolliver "a troublesome patient," and said that on July 4 of this year she had lighted a string of firecrackers in a ward where patients were dying. Father Cornelius O'Connor of Colfax, chaplain at the sanatorium, testified that in his opinion conditions there are "good" and "moral."

Miss Laurabelle Gardner, daughter of E. W. Gardner, of Placerville, was carried Sunday at Grass Valley to William Chappell Partridge.

Miss Gardner is a graduate of the county high school where she majored in domestic science and since leaving school has been employed at Sacramento in this field of work. Her husband is in the hotel business at Grass Valley and although we have no definite word as to their plans, it seems reasonable to presume that they will make their home in that city.

We congratulate Mr. Partridge and offer our good wishes along with those of her many other friends to his bride.

Blairs school about thirty years ago, visited here last week for the first time since he left here as a boy. With Mrs. Cord and their small son, Wayne, he was a guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. Flora Stacy, of Placerville, whom he had not seen for ten years. Prentice has been a member of the Los Angeles fire department for many years and the family make their home in Culver City. On Thursday afternoon of last week the party visited Mrs. Birdie Shanklin, whom Mrs. Stacy has known for many years, and on Friday they enjoyed a trip to Lake Tahoe, stopping in the Terrace for a visit with Mrs. Emily MacFarland, who was a schoolmate of Prentice and his sisters. The Cords returned to their home in the south on Sunday.

Charlie Hennings and Ralph Le Vitt returned to Camp Fourteen on Sunday after spending the weekend at their homes here. It is expected that work in the woods will be finished for this season about November 20.

The Terrace residents extend greetings to two Camino families who have moved here in the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Woolridge and family moved into the Dougherty house on Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lumley on the same day moved into the house built by John Small.

Mrs. Charlie Hennings, with Doris, Bobby and Darlene Hennings and Mrs. Emily MacFarland and son, Bruce, attended the Girl Scout dinner party at the Camino Farm Center hall Friday evening. They report that the dinner was delicious and the evening a most enjoyable one.

Ladd and Roy Quigberg, who are employed at a mine in the Grizzly Flat section, were home on Sunday.

F. Henderson, of Benicia, brother of Mrs. Gene Ward, bought several truck loads of lumber on his trip here last week. Gene accompanied one of the drivers to the planing mill at Benicia where he planned to spend a few days with his brother-in-law's family.

GOLD HILL NOTES

The Gold Hill school is planning to make Thanksgiving for others this year. They are packing a box of "goodies" to be delivered to someone who would otherwise be without. They are learning that happy-ness can come from giving and doing for others as well as receiving. Mrs. Maurice Veerkamp and son, Bruce, spent Thursday and Friday visiting and shopping in Sacramento. She was accompanied home by her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Woodward, and by Mrs. Keel, who returned to Sacramento Saturday evening.

Mrs. Jack Meyer and Mrs. Lee Brown spent Wednesday afternoon visiting with Mrs. Louis Veerkamp. Mrs. Alice Mann also spent several days at the Louis Veerkamp home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Winji spent Sunday in Garden Valley at the home of Mrs. Winji's parents. Frances Hancock had her brother, Neil Deering, and Eunice Smith of Oakland, as week-end guests.

Mrs. Cora Miller entertained the Placerville Whist Club and guests this week. Whist was preceded by a luncheon. Decorations and table setting were of the Mexican motif. Prize winners of the afternoon were the Mesdames Pearl Tinney, Laura Stroup, Mae Veerkamp, Minnie Marchini, Grace Lewis, Chris Henningsen, Georgia Ball and Maude Panning.

Mrs. Fred Ramsdell and son, Stanley, of Pittsburg, and Miss Ruth Baker, of Woodland, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Veerkamp. Miss Baker was guest at a 1:30 luncheon Saturday. The group were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Larson at their new home now nearing completion.

OMO RANCH

Elbert Dennis left Tuesday to work in the Le Roi mine, near Jackson.

Fred Kubel and Linard Standby were shopping in Placerville on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Foulks drove up from Stockton Thursday of last week to look after their property here. Mrs. Foulks' sister, Mrs. Norris, was with them.

"Butch" Allison and son, Dan, of Volander Station, were weekend guests at the Mountain Quail. A new sixteen by twenty foot cabin is being erected on the site of the one that was destroyed by fire last September.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. O'Neill were in Placerville Friday.

John Bradigan drove over from Fiddletown Saturday to get some men to cut hop poles for him. Among those who attended the dance at the Aukum Hall from this section last Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Blue, William Holden and Gladys Drake. They report a nice attendance and a good time.

The weather early in the week was crisp and cool with a feeling of winter in the air.

Blair's school will be closed next week for Thanksgiving and the annual teachers' institute. Mrs. Rose Corbell, teacher, announced.

The election board for Blair's precinct found their duties much more simple at last week's special election than at the general election last fall when they posted the final returns in the small hours of a Friday morning. Five hundred and four votes were cast at Blair's last Tuesday and by ten-thirty o'clock that same evening the last ballot was counted and the final returns were delivered to the county clerk's office before midnight. No votes were challenged though members of the "Ham and Egg" group kept a constant vigil at the polls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, of Sacramento, visited the R. A. Barnes home on Sunday.
